INTRODUCTION

INTRODUCTION

The Reagan Administration's recently proposed economic recovery program and its emphasis on curtailing Federal spending is a reflection of the national preoccupation with budget-cutting and belt-tightening. For the City of Boston, these imminent reductions in Federal aid are particularly ominous because they come precisely when the City is confronting a severe fiscal crisis created by the property tax reduction demanded by Proposition 2½. It appears inevitable that the primary victim of this new austerity will be local assistance and urban revitalization programs. Boston has already experienced the impact of this realignment of Federal spending priorities as the budget cutbacks imposed by the Carter Administration and the 96th Congress resulted in a 19% decline in Federal funds received by the City. Yet Reagan's philosophy of drastic budget cuts represents a radical departure from the past and will be achieved through consolidation of programs, especially those which aid urban areas; alterations in the eligibility criteria for entitlement programs; and outright program revisions. A review of the Reagan budget indicates an estimated loss of over $50 million in Federal aid, a decline of 31 % from the FY 1981 awards.

The Federal dollar is of critical importance to the City's economic well-being and ability to provide municipal services to Boston's citizens. In addition to the basic Federal aid used to supplement the City's operating expenses (i.e. Federal Revenue Sharing), Boston receives numerous multi-purpose grants which allow the City to augment its basic community services and to embark on major capital intensive development projects. The attainment of many of the City's priority goals, such as targeted job development, neighborhood revitalization and private investment leveraging is predicated upon the availability of Federal monies and the loss of these funds will critically impede the City's efforts to accomplish these goals.

In order to obtain a clear picture of the potential impact of future Federal budgetary cutbacks, the Office of Intergovernmental Relations has undertaken a comprehensive survey of all City departments designed to ascertain the source, amount and purpose of all Federal monies received by the City in FY'80 and FY'81. The results of this survey are contained in this report. It is expected that this information will provide City officials and interested citizens with the means to assess the impact of decisions regarding the appropriation levels of Federal programs which benefit the City. Currently this information is being utilized to determine and evaluate the potential effect of the Reagan Administration budget proposals upon the Federal funds revenues of the City. As the Reagan budget winds its way through the complex legislative process, the information will provide baseline data with which to measure the impact of Committee recommendations and Congressional amendments by providing direction and focus to the City's lobbying efforts.

In addition to indicating the exact FY'80 and FY'81 grant awards made to the City of Boston, the report also includes the following pertinent information regarding each Federal program from which the City received funding during those years:

Summary of Boston Award-Describes which City department has received the funds, how they are being used and other appropriate information.

Federal Program Description-Briefly describes the purpose of the Federal program.

Match Requirements-Where appropriate, indicates the City match required to obtain Federal funds.

Participant/Applicant Eligibility-Indicates who is eligible to receive the Federal program funds and who the project must serve or benefit.

Allocation Process-Describes the criteria and process used by the Federal funding agency to determine who will be awarded funds. This is of particular importance in entitlement or formula grants.

Authorization-Indicates the title and public law number of the program's authorization legislation and the identification code number used in the Catalog of Federal Domestic Assistance.

This additional information will be of assistance in interpreting the effects of proposed or actual changes in the authorizing legislation of these programs. Furthermore, alterations in program eligibility requirements can affect the program's relevance to urban needs. It is especially necessary to understand the various factors that comprise the formula for entitlement programs since changes in these factors will directly determine the amount of funds allocated to Boston. Since entitlement programs constitute over half of the City's Federal funds, close attention must be paid to the complex allocation formulas and award processes.

In utilizing the information contained in this report, the reader should be aware of three caveats. First, with the exception of Section 8 Housing subsidies and UMTA Operating Assistance funds, the report lists only those Federal funds which are received directly by the City Treasury. Funds which may benefit the City but are received by other organizational entities (State agencies, non-profit organizations) or by individual citizens (Medicaid, Social Security and other transfer payments) are not included. Secondly, the reported figures represent a conservative estimate of the total Federal funds received by the City. In many cases, Federal funds are allocated to State agencies which disburse the funds in combination with State appropriations, making it difficult to determine the Federal origin of these funds. In addition the lack of a centralized grant monitoring system with the City makes it possible that a number of smaller discretionary grants have not been identified. Finally it should be noted that the term "Fiscal Year" refers to the Federal fiscal year which begins on October 1 and terminates on September 30. As FY'81 has not ended yet, it is possible that additional discretionary aid will be awarded during the remainder of year. However, since the Reagan Administration has frozen most of the discretionary programs for which the City would be eligible, it is expected that additional discretionary grants between March 1 and September 30 will be minimal.

FEDERAL FUNDS SUMMARY

FEDERAL FUNDS SUMMARY

FY'81/FY'80

HIGHLIGHTS

Total Federal Funds Received (FY'81-80)

In FY'81, the City has received $160,584,855 in Federal revenues. This figure is 19% below the FY'80 total Federal revenue figure of $198,992,013.

The overall decline is primarily the result of significant cutbacks in CETA public employment programs, the phase-out of HUD urban renewal grants, the delayed reauthorization and reduced funding levels of the Economic Development Administration, the phase-out of the discretionary employment program, Project YES, and the termination of the Law Enforcement Assistance Administration monies.

It should be noted that no major new Federal programs were initiated during this time. In addition, increases in major block grant programs such as General Revenue Sharing and CDBG were minimal, and do not reflect the overall inflation rate.

Discretionary vs Entitlement

The majority of Federal monies received are a result of Federal entitlement programs. Entitlement programs provide funds to eligible cities by a formula allocation process based on various criteria related to the specific purposes of the grant. For example, Federal Revenue Sharing awards are determined by relative per capita income and tax base. Another example of an entitlement program is the Emergency School Aid Act program which provides direct support to local educational agencies which are implementing a qualifying desegregation plan.

Federal programs which provide funds to the City on the basis of a Federal or State determined formula are listed in Table 3. A full 61.1% of all Federal funds received in FY'81 were awarded via these formulas. In FY'80, 52.6% of all funds were entitlement.

The remainder of the funds are discretionary grants which are awarded generally on a competitive basis for special, narrowly defined categorical programs. Many of the discretionary grants are awarded directly from Federal agencies but a significant proportion are allocated to state agencies which then make sub-grants on a competitive basis. Examples of the latter are HHS Title XX grants and the Youth Adult Conservation Corps.

Federal Revenue as Proportion of Total Revenue

A comparison of Federal revenue with total actual revenues (excluding Federal receipts) reveals that Federal funds account for a significant portion of overall revenue. In Fiscal 1980, non-Federal actual revenues were $740.6 million.* Federal funds received in FY'80 totaled $199.0 million, augmenting the basic revenue by 27%.

Major Federal Programs

Of particular importance are six major Federal programs which account for 74% of Federal aid to the City. Brief synopses of these programs follow:

Federal Revenue Sharing

Provides over $22 million "no strings attached" direct fiscal relief to the police and fire department, Boston City Hospitals, and Commission on the Elderly.

Community Development Block Grant

This major HUD Block grant program provides over $25 million for priority community programs determined by the City within broad guidelines. CDBG priorities this fiscal year include neighborhood commercial and economic development, home weatherization, and housing rehabilitation.

Urban Development Action Grant

The UDAG program encourage private investment and development in distressed urban areas by using federal funds as loan funds to leverage private investment. Loan recapture is placed in the City's Neighborhood Development Fund to be used for neighborhood economic development projects through the City. In FY'80 and 81, the City has received over $40 million of UDAG funds which will help provide about 6500 temporary construction jobs and over 11,000 permanent jobs. Projects initiated in as a result of the UDAG program include: Copley Place, Lafayette Place, Blue Hill Avenue and Teradyne expansion.

Section 8 Housing

This program provides subsidies for private developers to undertake new or substantial construction or to rehabilitate existing housing stock. Special set-asides of Section 8 funds provide subsidies to improve housing for the elderly and the handicapped. While the City never receives these funds directly, private developers must obtain the City's approval before they apply to HUD. In FY'1981, Boston is expected to receive over $11 million under this program.

Educationally Deprived Children-Title I

This education entitlement program provides fiscal support to local school departments on an entitlement basis for educationally deprived children. Over $11 million was received for FY'81.

Employment

The City received over $30 million under the Comprehensive Employment and Training Act (CETA) during FY'81. The funds have been used to provide a broad array of employment and vocational training and jobs to well over 10,000 youths, adults, and senior citizens during FY'81. For example CETA programs have encouraged close private sector involvement in the planning and creation of needed jobs (166 jobs in FY'81). These programs have especially benefited the economically disadvantaged by providing public service employment opportunities and other temporary jobs to needy individuals. CETA funds have also helped to fund Project YES, a national demonstration program aimed at encouraging youths to remain in school.

- e) growth lag

CDBG funds are distributed according to two different formulas. The formula which is most favorable to a city is the formula used. For Boston, Formula B is used:

$$\begin{aligned} & .20 \frac{\text{Area growth lag}}{\text{total growth lag}} \\ & + \\ & .30 \frac{\text{Area poverty count}}{\text{total poverty count}} \\ & + \\ & .50 \frac{\text{Area age of housing}}{\text{total poverty count}} \end{aligned}$$

Boston ranks 33rd out of 333 UDAG eligible cities that use this formula. Unfortunately, HUD does not rank cities according to each element in the formula. However, we have been able to estimate Boston's approximate ranking in these areas from other sources:

Area growth lag: Boston--11.3%

Area poverty count: Boston--11.9%; median for all SMSA's--10.4%

Area age of housing: Boston--77.2%

SECTION 312 REHABILITATION LOANS

DISCRETIONARY AWARD(S) TO BOSTON

FY'81 $1,210,000
FY'80 $3,187,650

FEDERAL AGENCY: HUD/Community Planning and Development

SUMMARY OF

BOSTON AWARD(S): FY'81 - $1,210,000
FY'80 - $3,187,650
FY'79 - $2,384,000

Targeted areas for 312 loans in the City of Boston are those in which the deterioration of the housing stock requires a greater degree of rehabilitation than has traditionally been undertaken through the Housing Improvement Program. Were it not for these low-interest loans, rehabilitation for most of the eligible properties would not be economically feasible for the owner. Increasingly, 312 loans are used in combination with other Housing Improvement Program.

Areas where the 312 loans program operates include the Sav-Mor section of Roxbury, the Egleston/Sorybook area of Jamaica Plain, Archdale in Roslindale, the Meeting House Hill and Codman Square neighborhoods in Dorchester, Wellington Hill in Mattapan, City Point area of South Boston and the Fenway.

DESCRIPTION OF

FEDERAL PROGRAM: Program is designed to promote the revitalization of neighborhood by providing funds for rehabilitation of residential, commercial and other nonresidential properties. The Section 312 Rehabilitation Loan Program provides direct loans which may be used to finance the rehabilitation of property located in federally assisted code enforcement areas, urban renewal areas, Community Development Block Grant (CDBG) areas and Section 810 Urban

FEDERAL AGENCY: Housing and Urban Development

SUMMARY OF
BOSTON AWARD(S): Total: FY'80 - $11,749,220
FY'79 - $11,048,560

Boston has received funds under the following Section 8 programs:

3. State Housing Finance Agencies
4. Neighborhood Strategy Areas
5. Moderate Rehabilitation

Section 8 programs and allocations are discussed below.

DESCRIPTION OF

FEDERAL PROGRAM: Program is designed to aid lower-income families in obtaining decent, safe and sanitary housing in private accommodations and to promote economically mixed existing, newly constructed, and substantial and moderate rehabilitated housing.

The program provides housing assistance payments to participating private owners and Public Housing Agencies to provide decent, safe and sanitary housing for lower and very low-income families at rents they can afford. Housing assistance payments are used to make up the difference between the maximum approved rent due to the owner for the dwelling unit which is reasonable in relation to comparable market units and the occupant family's

MATCH REQUIREMENT:	None
PARTICIPANT ELIGIBILITY:	Very low-income families (whose income does not exceed 50 percent of the median income for the area as determined by the Secretary with adjustments for smaller and larger families); lower income families (whose income does not exceed 80 percent of the median income for the area adjusted for family size). A very low income or lower income single person who is elderly, disabled or handicapped, displaced, or the remaining member of an eligible tenant family is also eligible. At least 30 percent of the families assisted should be very low income families with gross income not in excess of 50 percent of area median income.

ALLOCATION PROCESS:	Funds are allocated on a regional basis according to such criteria as amount, age, and condition of regional housing stock. Funds are then allocated to HUD area offices on a similar basis. The Area Office then invites interested developers to apply for funds and the Office selects the best projects. The City in which the project will take place must approve the developer's applications.

SECTION 8 HOUSING ASSISTANCE PAYMENTS PROGRAM (PROGRAM DETALIS)

DESCRIPTION OF SECTION 8 PROGRAM

1. New Construction/Substantial Rehabilitation HUD/NOFA)

Boston Award: FY'80 - $1,885,512
FY'79 - $1,073,616

This program promotes the development of subsidized housing, either through new construction or through substantial rehabilitation, by providing a guaranteed subsidy (adequate to cover debt and operating expenses) for a term of up to 40 years. The housing is occupied by eligible low-income persons, who pay 25% of their income as rent (with the difference made up by the subsidy). The Section 8 subsidies can cover a portion of the units or all of a housing development. In the Section 8 New Construction and Substantial Rehabilitation Program administered directly by HUD, proposals are generally submitted in response to Notifications of Fund Availability (NOFA) published for specific allocation areas, based on that area's Fair Share Allocation. Selections are generally made on a competitive basis. Previously submitted "pipeline" proposals which are of high quality and were found approvable but not funded in the prior fiscal year are reviewed first, when any new contract authority becomes available. If additional authority remains, HUD may consider preapproved sites, and in certain areas, permit selection of developers by local governments.

2. Section 202 Elderly and Handicapped Housing

Boston Award: FY'80 - $1,825,512
FY'70 - $ 620,520

Section 202 is a direct loan program in which the federal government provides financing for housing for the elderly and handicapped, at below-market rates tied to the Treasury borrowing rate. Although the reduced loan rate would provide unit rents which are somewhat below market, they would still be out of reach of many elderly and handicapped persons living on fixed incomes. Accordingly, HUD and the Congress have decided that Section 8 subsidies should be provided for all Section 202 units. Processing for the Section 202 and Section 8 programs is coordinated, and project funds for both programs are reserved at the same time. Both new construction and substantial rehabilitation are eligible for the Section 202-Section 8 program.

DESCRIPTION OF SECTION 8 PROGRAM

3. State Housing Finance Agency Set-Aside

Boston Award: FY'80 - $ 416,856
FY'79 - $2,725,057

The largest set-aside in the Section 8 program has been for projects processed and financed by state housing finance agencies. Proposals financed by a state agency without federal mortgage insurance are eligible for special fast-track processing. In this State, the funds are allocated to the Massachusetts Housing Finance Agency (MHFA).

MHFA is a state lending institution which assists private developers by financing the construction, rehabilitation, and re-use of multi-unit dwellings. The agency is authorized to sell tax-exempt bonds and notes to private investors, the proceeds of which are used to make construction and permanent mortgage loans available at lower than conventional interest rates, to limited profit or non-profit developers.

Developers must create developments in which at least 25 percent of the apartments are set aside for low income tenants. Subsidies such as HUD Section 8 make it possible for low income households to pay a maximum 25 percent of their income for rent.

4. Neighborhood Strategy Areas

Boston Award: FY'80 - $1,005,672
FY'79 - $2,725,057

In 1978 HUD invited communities to target neighborhoods for extensive investment of Section 8 rental assistance, to support rehabilitation and new construction efforts. Twenty-one neighborhoods have been designated in Massachusetts to receive this assistance. For a particular project to receive this type of assistance, it must be within a designated neighborhood and receive the approval of the local government before going to MHFA or HUD for a commitment of funds.

DESCRIPTION OF SECTION 8 PROGRAM

5. Moderate Rehabilitation

Boston Award: FY'80 - $491,496
FY'79 - -0-

In the Housing and Community Development Amendments of 1978, Congress established a new component of the Section 8 program, called moderate rehabilitation. The intent is to stimulate the upgrading of lower-income housing which needs some repair work, but not substantial rehabilitation.

This program is designed to encourage a landlord to improve his units by the guarantee of Section 8 rental assistance at an increased level in return for a negotiated level of improvements to bring the property up to minimum standards. The Section 8 guarantee will run for a term of 15 years during which the unit must be occupied by an eligible low-income family.

Moderate rehabilitation is defined as rehabilitation involving a minimum expenditure of $1,000 per unit, including the prorated share of work on common areas or systems, to upgrade a unit to decent, safe, and sanitary condition or to repair or replace major building systems or components in danger of failure. While the regulations establish no maximum rehabilitation limit, program costs will be limited by the fair market rents, which are set at 120 percent of existing housing FMR's.

Various types of housing may be used in the moderate rehab program, including single family houses, multi-family structures, and independent group residences. Mobile homes are ineligible, and no Section 8 assistance may be provided to any owner-occupied unit.

DESCRIPTION OF SECTION 8 PROGRAM

6. HUD Loan Management

Boston Award: FY'80 - $1,850,280
FY'79 - $ 90,852

This program is provided out of the Secretary's discretionary fund and is used to assist Section 8 projects which encounter financial difficulty. The intent of the program is to help projects be restored to a sound financial footing.

7. HUD Property Disposition

Boston Award: FY'80 - $1,850,280
FY'79 - $3,619,128

Under this program, formerly insured projects which have been acquired by HUD are sold with Section 8 subsidies, so that they can be used for low-income housing.

Because projects generally deteriorate during the lengthy acquisition process, they generally require some type of rehabilitation. HUD is emphasizing an approach in which the owner will do the rehab work after purchasing the project, and the department will provide the level of Section 8 subsidy which is consistent with the amount of work required. Depending on the level of rehabilitation (if any), the Section 8 fair market rents for existing housing, moderate rehabilitation, or substantial rehabilitation will apply.

The Section 8 contract term will be 15 years for projects requiring moderate or no rehabilitation. For projects requiring substantial rehabilitation, the contract term will be no more than 20 years for FHA or HUD financing, up to 40 years for state or local financing, and up to 30 years for others.

HUD will administer the Section 8 contract. However, HUD may invite a PHA to perform certain functions for a fee, such as authorizing evictions and performing unit inspections.

DESCRIPTION OF SECTION 8 PROGRAM

8. Existing Housing

Boston Award: FY'80 - $507,684
FY'79 - $372,972

Under this program, the HUD Area Office distributes its allotments of Section 8 certificates to local public housing authorities (PHAs) or to the State. In Boston, the Boston Housing Authority receives the certificates.

The certificates are then assigned on the basis of waiting lists, to an eligible low-income family for use in obtaining an apartment. Some of the Section 8 units are administered through local housing authorities, and some are administered through regional non-profit groups. For metropolitan Boston, EOCD administers the Section 8 (existing) program directly. After an approved unit has been selected and all the agreements signed, the landlord receives a monthly payment from the tenant not to exceed 25% of the tenant's income. The balance in rent is then paid by the administering agency. The term of a certificate is usually 5 years, provided the income limitations are not exceeded.
